How do I print a boarding pass?

Boarding passes are printed from the airline web pages. If the airline allows you to save a copy of the boarding pass as a PDF file, then:

1. Save the PDF file to disk,
2. Print the PDF file using this printing service.

Or, in Internet Explorer, click 'File>Save As>Web Archive, single file *.mht', and save the web page to a location you can browse to from the Printing Service.

Otherwise, you may perform a one-time installation of PrintWhere, a Windows print driver that allows easy selection and use of remote printers. Once installed, select PrintWhere as your print driver, choose the printer, and print your boarding pass.

Why?

Most boarding pass web pages are protected with a secret login ID and password. If you provide the URL (web address) of your boarding pass, the printing services will be blocked because your login name and password are not known by the print system.
